

REDWOOD CITY ODD FELLOWS HOLD OLD MEMBERS NIGHT

A Large Attendance and an Enthusiastic Meeting This Week Pay Honors to Oldest Members of Local Lodge

Bay View Lodge I. O. O. F. held a rather unique and interesting meeting last Wednesday night at their hall on Main street. The occasion was an election of officers and an old members night. The officers elected are as follows:

Noble Grand, W. F. Bouliwer.
Recording Secretary, J. J. Rogers.
Financial Secretary, E. B. Fox.
Treasurer, L. P. Behrens.
Trustees, Henry Steinberger, Richard Schus, and William Williamson.

SHORT MEETING OF TRUSTEES

The meeting of the board of trustees this week was a short one and the business transacted was mostly of a routine nature. The meeting was held without any spectators being present.

A request was received from Chas. E. West to construct a shed to shelter his automobile while at work as telephone operator for the Southern Pacific Co. at the Dumbarton track. West wished to construct a shed on the closed portion of Manzanita street. The board felt that it had no authority to grant the permission desired, but instructed the clerk to write West to the effect that he could build the shed if no one objected.

A communication from the Southern Pacific Co. stating that the company would take steps to have the hill removed from Cedar and Beech streets and a flagman put there instead.

A request from the P. G. & E. Co. to contact one of the city poles was granted.

A permit was granted to Chas. Tammany to operate an automobile for hire. His place of business was designated as the Peninsula garage.

A new contract was presented to the trustees from the P. G. & E. Co. for the lighting of the streets. This matter was held up, as trustee May suggested that the board first find out if the rates allowed by the company in the new contract were as low as were allowed to other enterprises using the same amount of power.

Trustee Ryan, who has been investigating the Dodge car as to its utility for the police department, used reported that the Dodge agent had offered $150 for the old Ford now being used by the department. Guy Clifton of the Clifton Motor Company appeared before the board and offered $200 for the Ford if turned in on a $1,015 Dodge. The matter of the new car was taken under advisement by the trustees and was set for a special meeting Wednesday when a Dodge roadster was purchased.

Building Inspector Drathman reported that work on the roof of the city hall was progressing. The tin work, he said, was finished and the painting of the roof would begin immediately.

BELMONT STORE ROBBERED

The confectionery store of C. J. Messner was broken into last Wednesday through a rear door, a glass panel of which was broken by the robbers and the latch opened. Being unsuccessful in opening the store safe, the thieves opened the vending machines from which they obtained about $15. They also took about $5 in pennies which they found in the cash registers. The stock was not disturbed, except some sandwiches which were taken from the counter.

EXPERTS AUDIT COUNTY BOOKS

Two expert accountants started work on the county books this week as part of the work of the grand jury. All the departments of the county will be audited at this time. The work of the accountants will take about two months.

DUMBARTON BRIDGE ASSOCIATION FORMED HERE LAST SATURDAY

Important Meeting of Delegates From Cities of the Bay District Discuss Ways and Means of Financing Project

Last Saturday a large number of delegates from all the adjoining towns and the towns across the bay met in the civic auditorium here to discuss the building of a bridge across the bay at Dumbarton Point. Chairman Towne opened proceedings by giving a history of the Dumbarton bridge movement since its inception. In the course of his remarks he severely criticized former proponents of the bridge who had in recent months suddenly switched their allegiance to other sites and ideas.

Mr. Towne read extracts from the San Mateo News Leader of April 23rd, 1922 covering the statement of District Attorney Franklin Swart in which he rebuked certain proponents of another site who testified to Colonel Deakley of the U. S. Army engineers that Dumbarton was the popular demand of San Mateo County people.

Chairman Towne in his speech expressed astonishment that such switching of testimony was poor business and would not get results desired, but would tend to cloud the issue. He then called on Mr. R. H. K. Smith for a statistical analysis and general plans for the Dumbarton project.

Mr. Smith opened his address by stating that Supervisor McLaren of San Francisco was partly responsible for the meeting in session. He explained that McLaren at a meeting of supervisors held in San Francisco on the 17th of November had read a personal letter to himself (McLaren) from Mr. Eldridge Webb, the engineer interested in the Little Coyote Point bridge in which Webb had begged McLaren to endeavor to have all reference to Dumbarton bridge eliminated from any reports recommendations, etc., presented to the board of supervisors. Webb's letter stated that should Dumbarton be recommended, it might seriously affect the eastern financiers' plans for supplying funds to build Little Coyote Point bridge.

Mr. Smith stated that this intimation was sufficient to encourage the Redwood City chamber of commerce to call the big Dumbarton meeting in session in that the fear of Dumbarton being successfully built would possibly cause the proponents of Little Coyote Point to get behind Dumbarton as a matter of economy. Dumbarton would cost approximately $1,000,000 as between $6,000,000 and $10,000,000 for Little Coyote Point. Smith then turned the meeting over to Mr. R. H. K. Smith, who had received splendid support from eastern bridge builders who expressed their willingness to thoroughly investigate the Dumbarton project and if data regarding finances, surveys, etc., were satisfactory there would be little or no difficulty in going ahead with the building of the bridge as well as getting the necessary funds to finance the project. The engineers in question, however, had written requesting no publicity at this time regarding their names or plans until after their arrival the middle of December. The following extract from a letter of November 27th written by the engineers was read by Smith in explanation of their request for privacy:

"If, upon completion of our investigation the project appears to be satisfactory from a financial point of view, I feel confident the necessary funds can be secured. Premature publicity arouses opposition and often prevents development of such projects, hence I should much prefer that our name and plans be considered confidential, so far as that is practicable. I am sure you will appreciate the force of our desire to keep private all essential matters."

"We are, therefore, thoroughly conversant with all the elements that go to make up a satisfactory toll bridge project and with the means of financing it, and we shall be glad to look into the Dumbarton case as soon as possible."

"I must be in (a certain town) December 2nd and in (a certain town) the week of December 4th, hence I cannot visit you before the middle of the month."

Mr. Smith then stated that on the face of the foregoing as well as other individual proposals it was that there would be no difficulty in financing the bridge by private enterprise. Considerable pressure, however, was being exercised in certain quarters to allow the general public to come in as small and large investors. The estimated dividends, etc., looked so attractive that the opinion of financiers was that a public bond, or stock investment would be speedily underwritten. This matter, however, would be a matter for the directors of the contemplated organization to consider as a question of policy.

However, for the benefit of those present at the meeting the following statement of estimated receipts and disbursements might prove of interest:

Investment:
Estimated cost of Dumbarton Bridge $1,600,000
Estimated cost of Tug Boat 30,000
Estimated contingent or unlooked expense 120,000
TOTAL COST $1,750,000

Tolls on say 1500 machines daily, composed of:
Say 1400 pleasure cars at .40 $560
Say 2000 passengers at .05 100
Say 100 comm'l cars at $1 100
DAILY $800
PER ANNUM $292,000

Interest received from sinking fund invested annually in approved securities at say only 4 per cent $35,000
ANNUALLY $327,000

Expenses and Sinking Fund:
Sinking fund for refunding shareholders at the end of thirty years per annum 58,333
Estimated 8 per cent dividend to shareholders 140,000
Repairs and upkeep-uninsurable and based on life of bridge 200 years $750
Insurance-against earthquakes, collisions, etc. 13,125
Maintenance-tollgate keepers 13,800
Tugboat exp. standing by 20,000
ANNUALLY $254,008
or a surplus of $72,992 per annum.

Mr. Smith's speech and figures were received with enthusiasm and Chairman Towne then decided that the time was ripe to call the roll of delegates present to decide future plans.

Roll Call of Delegates

Redwood City, represented by Frank K. Towne, R. H. K. Smith, Palo Alto by C. H. Stevens, C. H. Christensen; E. D. Lakin, G. A. Morrell; Menlo Park by C. H. Morrell; San Carlos by A. H. Hull, F. H. Drake; Runnymede by Amos O. Davis, M. F. Gallagher, Judge Hinckley; San Jose by E. H. Right Arthur C. Day, Claude Freeman; Livermore by M. G. Gallagher, E. W. Dondrin; Centerville by J. G. Gerhard, secretary of the Civic League of Improvement Clubs and Associations.

Chairman Towne then called on the various delegates to express their opinions and of the organizations they represented:

Geo. W. Gerhard in a splendid address urged unanimity on Dumbarton for economical and other reasons. He stated that after Dumbarton was built it would be time enough to think of other more expensive projects but let the original Dumbarton plan go through first. By switching from one plan to another nothing could be accomplished. He pledged the support of the Civic League of Improvement Clubs and Associations of San Francisco which body represented some eighty organizations and civic bodies.

F. H. Drake followed with another fine speech and intimated that he had been in touch with financial interests that would be gotten in touch with in due course.

Delegates from the various towns all extolled the Dumbarton project after which Secretary Smith stated that as the feeling was enthusiastic towards going ahead with the project he would move that the Dumbarton Bridge Association be formed for immediate action. The motion was seconded by A. H. Hull and unanimously carried. A. G. Morell moved and C. H. Christensen seconded that each town thereupon appoint a temporary director, such appointment to be ratified as quickly as possible by interested organizations.

The motion was carried unanimously and the following directors appointed:

Gerhard; and the following were appointed later by the directors: San Bruno—G. A. Helmore; Daly City—J. O. Walker; South City—Edwin Halcor.

Chairman Towne announced that the directors would meet immediately after the adjournment of the big meeting to elect officers and formulate plans.

DOG PROVES HERO TO HIS MISTRESS

Buster, the 4-year-old pet of Miss Inez Jamieson of this city, proved a hero to his mistress last Tuesday night, while she was being pursued by an unknown man. Miss Jamieson did her part by striking the man with her umbrella, but Buster, seeing that this did no good, did his part by catching the man by his leg, and biting him good. The man was not able to run when Buster got through with him and Inez arrived home safely. Miss Jamieson had noticed that the man had passed her several times during the day and when she was returning home at 5:10, the man approached her and said, "Hello," to her twice. He then said, "Where are you going?" Upon her failure to answer him, the chase began, where-in Buster was the hero to his well-loved mistress. Miss Inez says that she never saw the man before, and does not know what his motive was. She has assured everyone that her hero, Buster, has a life-long home with her.

ROBERT F. STEVER

The following notice is taken from this month's issue of the "Stanford Illustrated Review." Mr. Robert Stever to whom it refers resided in Redwood City with his mother while he was a student at Stanford and had many friends here. The Stevers resided at the Goodwin place at the end of Roosevelt avenue for several years.

"Another Stanford war hero has gone with a smile to his reward, Robert F. Stever, '12, known as Bob by his thousands of friends on the mainland and in the Hawaiian Islands. In him Stanford University has lost one of its best friends. He was a friend of that frequently discouraged group, who 'earn their own way' while attending the university."

He was a leader in putting across the Liberty bond campaign in the Hawaiian Islands. Such was his enthusiasm and such was his leadership that the Islands greatly oversubscribed their quota. Not since that year has he been able to resume his own work. As he himself wrote in 1920, after several years of invalidism: "I care not how straight the state, how charged with punishment the scroll."

I am the master of my fate,
I am the captain of my soul."
(borrowed)

Mr. Stever was born in Davenport Iowa and came to California when he was five years old. He entered the State College of Iowa the year after the earthquake. Later when through his own efforts his financial situation was improved he returned to California and to Stanford. He completed the law course in 1912.

The new loan library, which loans free of charge textbooks to students who are working their way through the University, is to be known as "The Robert F. Stever Loan Library."

EDUCATION WEEK

President Harding set the week of December 3 to 9 apart as an American Education Week. It was the hope of the Chief Executive of our nation that the people of the commonwealth would pause and consider this part of our national life and by such consideration try and lighten the burden of those who are responsible for its operation.

There are 30,000,000 boys and girls in the schools of American and it is the business of the home to see that they go to school with the right attitude of mind concerning the teachers and school officials.

Parents and society are more and more putting responsibilities upon the school. Many of these responsibilities should be assumed by the parent. If they are not the teachers must assume them. Some time the home must take them back. If more of the lessons were studied at home and less of the pupils' time, were spent on the street, America would soon show the results.

THAT BOND ISSUE

On December 19, the people of Redwood City will decide whether or not the children are to have a public play ground. Burlingame thinks enough of its boys and girls to give them a recreation center. Palo Alto has provided playgrounds for its youth.

We hope Redwood City will rise to its opportunity and give the proposition a rousing vote.

THE FRUITS OF GLORY

John I. Nolan, who represented the 5th District of California in Congress of the United States for the past ten years, died in San Francisco last month. Mr. Nolan as one of the best known labor leaders in the country. He was a good man, and a fine, upright representative. He achieved the highest honor that can come to an American citizen, that of representing the people in our National Congress. And after ten years of faithful service he had just $1700 to leave for his wife and child. Our country should do better for the men who spend their life in its service.

SOLEMN ASSURANCES

Speaking of the allied debts to the United States, Secretary Hoover says: "These loans were made at the urgent request of the borrowers and under their solemn assurances of repayment."

"Times have changed and now we are receiving urgent requests for their cancellation, accompanied by solemn assurances from some countries that they can never be repaid."

SOMEBODY MUST PAY

There is one cogent argument against cancelling European debts to the United States. They can't be canceled; they can only be transferred. Loans to foreign countries were made out of funds derived from the sale of Liberty bonds in this country. If Europe does not pay back the money she has obtained from the proceeds of these bonds it must be raised by federal taxes imposed upon Americans.

RETURN TO NORMALCY

The rise of the fascist in Italy is held by political observers in Europe to be the sign of civilization's rescue. The fascist, composed mostly of the middle class, is the determined enemy of bolshevism, and had its birth in reaction against red outbreaks in Italian cities two years ago.

STAND BY AMERICAN IDEALS

Only through "a clear consciousness on our own part of our own national aims and through strong and courageous leadership" can America be assured against foreign entanglements, was an impressive statement in General Pershing's Armistice day address. This utterance was an application of Americanism to the Near East problem that carries conviction. Against sentimental internationalism that would subject the country to obligations and complications and menaces that would come with foreign entanglement, General Pershing urges realization of national aims and steadfastness in holding to them as a safeguard. No living person knows more clearly or comprehensively what menace European involvement holds for America than does General Pershing. He knows from experience the fearful cost in lives and treasure that would be threatened by such entanglement. Viewing the Near East situation through far and clear seeing eyes, he does not hesitate to warn the nation against sentimental internationalism that would sacrifice national aims. While the series of crises that enliven European news affect American interests in varying degrees, this does not mean that America should become an active participant in European politics, as was urged by the preceding administration and is still urged by certain ill-advised elements that apparently are willing to involve this country in the Near East embroglio in furtherance of their sentimental scheme for adjustment of world ills.

Protection of the interests and lives of Americans in Europe and Asia is a national aim in itself—but it is an aim that does not include European entanglements. It is realization of this that underlies and actuates the Harding administration's policies relative to Europe. Throughout its tenure, it has manifested that strong and courageous leadership which General Pershing couples with "clear consciousness of our own national aims" as necessary to protection of America against foreign entanglements.

SUPERVISORS HOLD LONG AND BUSY SESSION MONDAY

An element somewhat approaching the melodramatic was induced in this week's meeting of the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors, last Monday, when Miss Sarah Fry, an elderly goat raiser of Menlo Park, attired in a hiking costume and brandishing a tax receipt, appeared before that worthy body to protest against the condition of a road which passes her goat farm in Menlo Park.

This matter was referred to Supervisor McHain in whose township the road in question happens to be. MacHain explained that a contract had already been let for the construction of a sewer along this road and that he did not favor repairing the street just to have it torn up again immediately.

MacHain's explanation of the matter, however, did not satisfy the protesting Miss Fry, who said that Father Ricard predicted storms and his predictions were always right, for she had followed them closely for many years. If it rained, said Miss Fry, she would be unable to get over the road to deliver milk. The people always had the right to recall the public officer, she said, and that the supervisor in question would be reading a sign entitled, "MacHain recalled for neglecting his duty," which she said, she would hang over her door. "I'll give you eight hours to start work," exclaimed Miss Fry as she left the room.

Architect Topke of the new county hospital presented bids for an incinerator at the hospital as follows:

J. A. McGowan $870
J. J. McLeod $52
J. E. Pringle $87

Bids opened for the water supply system were:

J. J. McLeod $11,290 $1,684 $2,210
J. E. Pringle 9,797 1,929 4,000
J. F. McGowan 10,977 1,850 2,150

Bids for the garden work were presented in the following amounts:

Peterson & Hayward $5,031.75
West Coast Nursery $450.90

A protest against calling for bids for this work at this time was received from McKorie & McLaren, and was placed on file.

The following bids were received for the construction of roads and walks, the lower bid being in case water bound macadam is used in the roads instead of oil surface.

W. W. Thompson $12,970 $11,535.95
Peterson & Hayward 7,240 $5,792

Bids for the lighting equipment of the grounds were as follows:

Decker Electrical Construction Company $1340
M. E. Ryan 1224

Engineering Construction Co. $556

The following bids were received for the installation of ranges and kitchen equipment:

Montague Range and Furnace Co. Item 1. $5,041.50
Item 2. $3,445.50

Nathan-Dohrmann Item 1. $5,354.40
Item 2. $6,959.80

John G. Ellis & Co. $594.00

In case Peninsula Burner is used in connection with range $-126.00

For Johnson Oil Burner 6,271.00

Item 1 includes a gas range for the kitchen and item 2, an oil range.

A representative of the Peninsula Oil Burner Co. was present and presented several letters, testifying to the good results obtained from the use of that burner.

All the bids were taken under advisement by the board which met again Thursday and awarded the contracts as follows:

Contracts to the lowest bidder in each case, except those for the water supply and kitchen equipment which have not been awarded.

Mrs. King of Las Pulgas avenue was ordered by the board to remove an obstruction on that avenue on complaint of Ben Swanson who was ordered at a recent meeting of the board to remove a similar obstruction on the same avenue on the protest of Mrs. King.

Several of the traffic officers of the county were present and inquired about their salaries, as with several others of the appointive officers of the county, the question of traffic officers' pay has been under discussion since the ruling of Judge Lawlor a short time ago.

An estimate of the cost of bridging Bean Hollow was presented to the board by County Surveyor Kneese.

A bridge, according to Kneese, would cost about $25,000, and a dam would cost $24,000. If a dam were built the Peninsula Farms Company would pay a large portion of the cost for the privilege of using the dam to impound water. It was, therefore, moved by Supervisor Hickey and seconded by Supervisor Brown, that bids be advertised for.

County Purchasing Agent Werder was given permission to sell the old Chevrolet, now being used by the County Social Service Commission and purchase a Buick coupe, which he bought for $1,050.

A petition to abandon a road which is now on the property of the Berford Country Club was referred to Supervisor Brown.

A petition was received from the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. for permission to lay a pipe line along School street in Colma.

The permission was granted and a bond of $1,000 asked as security that the street should be replaced in good condition.

A communication was received from the Redwood City chamber of commerce stating that the Dumbarton Bridge Association had been formed and that body will soon ask for a franchise to construct and operate a toll bridge across the bay at Dumbarton point.

A resolution was received from the Napa County Board of Supervisors relative to the construction of a bridge across Carquinez straits with public money. This resolution was filed.

A communication was received from William Maynard in regard to the condition of the Camina-las Serras. This road, according to Supervisor MacBain was not a county road, and, therefore, could not be repaired by the supervisors. The clerk was directed to write to Mr. Maynard and inform him of that fact.

A communication was received from the corner of San Francisco County in regard to the dangerous condition of the highway at Colma, where the car tracks turn around the cemetery. This matter was also discussed by the supervisors. It was decided that the State Highway Commission should be asked to do something in the matter to make the curve at Colma less dangerous.

Cleaning

Without Odor

by the

F. Thomas Process

Our many years of experience has taught us that it is impossible to do perfect cleaning with cheap, inferior methods. That is why we found it necessary to invest nearly $500,000 in the equipment of a plant and the establishment of an expert organization to do the quality of work demanded by our customers.

With the "F. Thomas Process" we not only remove every particle of dust but we return your garments without that usual disagreeable smell of gasoline. Every drop of gasoline we use in cleaning is redistilled and very highly refined.

Raw gasoline—the kind that you buy for your automobile—is full of heavy oils and unfit for cleaning fabrics. It is little better than ordinary kerosene and leaves a sickening "gasoline" smell in your clothing.

Our equipment, to redistill and purify our cleaning fluids alone represents a bigger investment than many cleaners have in their entire plant. That is why our work has no odor.

MISS HIRD WRITES ABOUT CHINESE WEDDING

Sunday October 22, 1922

Dear Mamma

President Lincoln is leaving in a day or two and will take you this letter. "He" just got into Hongkong and I am hoping I will find a letter at the office in the morning. I got a Vogue from Kittle yesterday and I have so many pretty things in it that I want to copy.

I had quite a treat yesterday. One of the Y. W. girls took me to a Chinese wedding. It was a religious ceremony in a Presbyterian (that word does not look right but I don't know what is the matter with it) church. But the thrill was in the fact that I went to the home of the bride. The Y. W. girl was "blossing" the job. They wanted her to dress the bride's hair, but she insisted she couldn't and persuaded me to make an effort. I made a pretty decent job of it and they all seemed to like it. The bride was just calm and unconcerned as if she were going to a picnic. She was very pretty. After dressing her hair the girl took us into another room, where we had tea and I had to eat small cakes, without washing my hands. It went somewhat against the grain but I am still alive—I mean working with hair and then eating before I could wash my hands. After that friends of the family began coming in to see the bride get dressed. She had her underwear on already so all we saw her put on was her dress and shoes and veil. Her dress was of beautiful Chinese silk, made in a skirt instead of trousers, and a real tulle bridal veil with a wreath of orange blossoms. Her bridesmaid was dressed in a pink silk. Oh, yes, we made the bridal bouquet, too. After the bride was completely dressed (she wore a lot of handsome jewels, too, and both she and her attendant wore their rings on the outside of their gloves) the groom and his man came into her room and greeted her by bowing to her, then we all went into another room where the bride and groom, after a short prayer in Chinese, would stand together before her parents and his parents, and all their grand-parents, and uncles and aunts and cousins, etc., etc., and bow to each three times. Then as she came out to get into her chair a long string of fire-crackers was touched off. Her chair was very beautiful. It was very much larger than the ordinary chair and as completely covered with white flowers. It looked like a miniature dream house. It was carried by eight coolies. After arrival at the church the proceedings were quite like our own weddings except in Chinese. After the wedding we all went to a big restaurant to a banquet. The bride and groom went home to change their clothes and we were all nearly thru eating when they appeared. When they were ready to enter, the bride's maid came first bearing a tray with tiny silver goblets of wine.

"Mother—you never told me"

"Father—if I had only been guided"

Such is the daily plaint of hundreds of young men and young girls, who have deviated from the paths of respectability.

Had they but been guided in earlier life, they doubtless would not have been confronted with the tragic situation they are trying to make known to their parents.

So many parents neglect to inform their sons and daughters of the pitfalls confronting them on the dark road, and it is in such cases that the lessons of a lifetime are unfolded in two hours by the unique motion picture production, "Some Wild Oats," at the California Theatre.

The picture is entirely different from any ever seen in Redwood City, and in addition to its entertainment value, there are some splendid educational features.

Because of the delicate subject touched upon in the picture, it has been deemed advisable not to show it to mixed audiences. There are special shows for women at 2:30 and for men 7:30. Children under 16 years of age will not be admitted under any circumstances, the management announces.

"Mother—you never told me"

"Father—if I had only been guided"

Such is the daily plaint of hundreds of young men and young girls, who have deviated from the paths of respectability.

Had they but been guided in earlier life, they doubtless would not have been confronted with the tragic situation they are trying to make known to their parents.

So many parents neglect to inform their sons and daughters of the pitfalls confronting them on the dark road, and it is in such cases that the lessons of a lifetime are unfolded in two hours by the unique motion picture production, "Some Wild Oats," at the California Theatre.

The picture is entirely different from any ever seen in Redwood City, and in addition to its entertainment value, there are some splendid educational features.

Because of the delicate subject touched upon in the picture, it has been deemed advisable not to show it to mixed audiences. There are special shows for women at 2:30 and for men 7:30. Children under 16 years of age will not be admitted under any circumstances, the management announces.

MENLO PARK NEWS

Samuel M. Shortridge, Jr., left yesterday for Washington, D. C. to be away from home until the holidays. He is attending to legal business in the capitol city.

Mrs. James Cunningham and Miss Elizabeth Cunningham will close their home in Menlo Park and will take their departure for New York immediately after the wedding of Miss Sara Cunningham and Mr. Cornelius Hemert Euteri, which is set for December 16. Mrs. Cunningham probably will be accompanied East by her daughter, Mrs. Murray Sargent, the former Miss Mary Cunningham, who came to California with the future bride last month. Mrs. Sargent is to be matron of honor at the wedding. Present plans set December 18 as the date of Mrs. Cunningham's going and she and her daughter will first visit Mr. and Mrs. Sargent at their home before taking an apartment for the remainder of the winter.

Mrs. Maconduy Moore will be a dinner hostess on the night of December 15, when she will entertain at her home in Broadway. Later with her guests, she will attend the Italian fete which Mr. and Mrs. James Flood and Miss Mary Flood are giving at their home in honor of the debutantes of this season.

The Doctor J. L. Ross building on Santa Cruz avenue has been leased to Mr. Domba, a retired rancher of Canada. He is very much in love with this locality and intends to permanently reside here.

Miss Catherine O'Dea and Miss Mary O'Dea, two of Menlo's prettiest belles, have taken apartments in the city for the winter months. They will return in the spring time when all nature will appear in its happiest mood.

Mr. Kertz has moved the Menlo Pharmacy to the old Canary Cottage across the street on the Duff and Doyle property. He has improved the store with new fixtures, and has laid in a large stock of drugs and novelties. The pharmacy is one of the finest on the peninsula.

J. H. O'Keefe has leased the old shooting gallery to Mr. Glazier of Palo Alto who is to sell second hand automobiles of all makes, shapes and sizes and prices within the reach of the most humble citizen.

The citizens of Rummymede have made an application to the Menlo Park chamber of commerce to become members. A meeting for this purpose will be held at Rummymede next week.

The long row of cypress trees around the Grant property on the Alameda has succumbed to the woodman's axe. This will admit the sun to that portion of the highway where the trees were located thus preventing the muddy condition of the road in winter time.

distinct advantages of a statewide banking connection to the small and large depositor

It invariably pays the small depositor (who hopes some day to become a large one) to ally himself with a large bank right from the start.

To have a banking connection with an institution maintaining 40 offices in 42 California cities—a bank with resources of over $225,000,000—is an unusual privilege, one that in the United States, obtains only in California.

Naturally, a statewide bank provides broader facilities, and can extend more advantages, privileges and courtesies to the small or large depositor than any other type of financial institution.

The prestige and convenience derived from a statewide banking connection is also a valuable business asset.
